draw. It is thought likely that more delewill be instructed for Major Daniel than for Mr. Braxton, and that in case a fight is made in the State convention the senator could win. The fact that he has been in public life so many years, is so well known, and more beloved than any Virginian of to-day, gives him a great lead over the younger and less nown man. It has never been indicated by any It has never been indicated by any Virginia paper, so far as I know, that Senator Daniel may refuse to allow the convention to instruct for him. It is not impossible that he may request that his name be not presented to the convention for the honor. He has not authorized any statement to the effect that he would decline to allow the convention to request his nomination and has Confederate Soldier on Ticket.

It is also true that there are some Democrats who have expressed this opinion to me, but many more have said that any such view is erroneous, and that a Confederate soldier on the ticket would not hurt it in the least so far as the people of the North are concerned.

A Democrat from Rochester, N. Y., said to me Saturday night that he did not believe the Democrats could select a stronger candidate for second, place than Senator Daniel, and that he helleved the people of the North would welcome the opportunity to vote for a man of his high character, who has so completely cast aside the animosities of forty years ago. But neither Senator Daniel nor labors under the disadvantage of being practically unknown outside the State. One fact has been made clear recently, and that is that Caperton Braxton will be a power in politics with whom as-pirants for high political honors in Vi-ginia, at least, will have to reckon in the tors and Governor Montague will be three large to the last three National Conventions. He will not make a fight for the place, but it is certain that his friends will insist upon his going to St. Louis in the same capacity as that in which he attended the two conventions at Chicago, and the one at Kansas City. One or more county conventions in the Second District have already instructed for Mr. Maynard as a delegate at large. Several members of the Virginia delegation in Congress have said they did not care to go to the National Convention as delegates, unless it was the wish of a pronounced majority of their constituents that they attend in that capacity.

Wuscor for the House.

Wysor for the House.

It is believed that Hon. Joseph C. Wysor will be the Democratic nominee to the sent in the House of Representatives now occupied by Colone Siemp. It is said not to be at all unlikely that there will be no opposition to Mr. Wysor for the nomination, Judge William F. Rhea having announced that he will not be a candidate. The fight in the Ninth this fall will attract attention outside of the State, owing to the fact that it is the only Republican district in the State, which usually has a solid Democratic delegation. There is no likelihood of the defeat of a Democratic member from any other of the Virginia districts, so that the entire State will have time to watch the fight, which Mr. Wysor will make in the Kinth. That it is going to be a good one, goes without saying to those who know Mr. Wysor. Judge Rhea, is known all over Virginia as a man almost without an equal as a stumper in southern country, and while Mr. Wysor has not led as many hard fights as Judge Rhea, he has had great experience in politics, and besides being one of the ablest lawyers in Southwest Virginia, he is a speaker on the hustings of rare power. The Ninth District will provide the fun this fail, and if Colonel Slemp keeps his sent in Congress he is going to earn it. He will have to.

MEETING OF ASSOCIATION

A Number of Striking Reports Submitted-Election of Officers for Ensuing Year.

A series of reports of an unusual and striking character distinguished the annual meeting of the Richmond Education Association, held last night at the Mechanics' Institute, and made the session of lively interest to all present.

The attendance was very good, and included a number of well known gentlenen, among whom were Mayor-elect Carlton McCarthy, Superintendent Joseph Carlton McCarthy, Superintendent Joseph W. Southall, Dr. John P. McGuire, Mr. W. F. Fox, and a number of others equally as well known. Officers were elected and the annual reports were received and ordered to be printed. Among the notable features of the evening were the special reports made by the delegates to the Eastern Public Education Association, Mrs. L. R. Dashiell and the delegate to the Birmingham conference, Mr. B. B. Valentine. The latter included some striking remarks on the negro and on the changing attitude of the North upon the problem of the South. During the evening there was also brought out the rather startling fact that not more than 50 per cent. of the children of Richmond, of Manchester and of Vifginia attend the public school. This fact was held up by Mr. D. L. Pulliam, of Manchester, as pointing out a new direction for the association to follow—a crusade in the homes of the masses, who neglect to give their children the training that will make them more independent and self-sustaining as individuals and more valuable as citizens. W. Southall, Dr. John P. McGuire, Mr.

Which Acted Like a Charm After Doctors and Hospitals Failed.

Here is another of those remarkable cures of torturing, disfiguring skin humors daily made by Cuticum Resolvent, assisted by Cuticura Ointment and Soap, after physicians, hospitals and all else had failed.

" I feel it my duty to try to help those suffering from skin diseases. My case was a very bad one, covering all of one side of my face and had reached my eye. I had two or three doctors prescribe without any relief. They said my disease was Epithelioma. I was then advised to go to one of our hosthen advised to go to one of our nos-pitals, which I did, taking their treat-ment for some time. I took one teaspoonful of the Resolvent four times a day. They acted like a charm, and in one week's time my face was cured entirely and has remained so. committee workers. The burdens have fallen largely on the chairmen of the committees and the officers of the association. There is surely work enough for all and we would like for each member of the association to take an active part in it. Our platform—the advancement of education in our city and State—is broad enough for all; and if our policy is not equally so, take the initiative, propose and push the measures that you think will best carry out this object."

The report of the treasurer, Mr. Irving E. Campbell, showed total receipts $797.53 and total disbursements $341.40, leaving a balance of $456.18.

THE ART COMMITTEE.

One of the most important and interesting departments of the work of the association is entrusted to the Art Committee, of which Miss Carrie Lee Campbell is chairman. The report of Miss Compbell last night was as follows:

The Art Committee of the Richmond Education Association, which has for its role object the decoration of the Richmond public schools, has just closed the most successful year in its history in point of the Aumber of works of art placed in the school rooms.

The first and greatest help came from the Specutive Committee of the Richmond Education Association, whose handsome appropriation made possible the placing of the following pictures and casts:

In the Valentine Kindergarten, con-

some appropriation made possible the placing of the following pictures and easts:

In the Valentine Kindergarten, connected with Central school: The Sistine Madonna, The Children of Chaples I., by Van Dyke; Bogs, by Landseer; A Girl, by Greenye; A Cast of The Singing Boys, by Della Robbler.

In the West End Kindergarten: The Divine Shepherd, Murillo; Madame Le Bum and Daughter, Le Brum; Picture of a Donkey; Cast of Singing Boys, by Della Robbla.

In the Belleview Kindergarten: Reynolds's Samuel; Sheep, by Davis; The First Step, and Cast by Singing Boys, by Della Robbla.

Besides these there have been placed in the Belleview school: Landscape, Troyon, and two pictures from child-life. In the West End school: Sistine Madonna, and two scenes from child-life. In Madison school: A Sistine Madonna, and two scenes from child-life. In Madison school: A Sistine Madonna, and Age of Innocence, by Reynolds, and The Gleaners, by Morgan. This last is a gift from one of Madison's retired teachers, Miss Dixon.

In response to an appeal made to the Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, in this city, there came unanimous, prompt and hearty response in a gift for each cf the white schools of a portrait of the commander whom they delight to honor—Robert E, Lee.

ENCOURAGING RESPONSE.

ENCOURAGING RESPONSE.

To a similar appeal to the Jefferson Club, of this city, there came a peculiarly encouraging response, in that these gentlemen, not as an organization, but with troad-minded public spire, individually subserihed a sufficient sum to place in each of the schools a portrait of Thomas Jefferson, whose presence there is eminently appropriate.

vidually subscribed a sufficient sum to place in each of the schools a portrait of Thomas Jefferson, whose presence there is eminently appropriate.

Within the past week a movement has been instituted, which promises marked results; the mothers of Madison School have formed a Mothers' Auxiliary, having for its object the further decoration of Madison School. Their interest and earnestness are most encouraging.

The appreciation of our work on the part of the teachers, pupils and principals, is most gratifying, and the workers, while it converts into pleasure what might otherwise seem toil. The Traveling Gallery of twenty-five pictures has been at Bellevue School this half session.

Wherever the committee has made even a slight endeavor to advance its work, the results have been far in excess of the effort put forth, and this fact creates an earnest desire on their part for a greater control of time and means to press forward a work in which teachers and pupils, principals, parents and townsfolks seem so rendy to participate.

While we have had an encouraging year, in seeing forty-five works of art placed in the schools; when we rembuled the the schools; when we rembuled that our field of labor includes cleven buildings of twelve to sixteen rooms each, this seems a small part accomplished; and we would bespeak the earnest co-operation of all public spirited citizens this most important work.

SPECIAL REPORTS.

The report made by Mr. B. B. Valentine as a delegate to the Birmingham Conference, was one of the features of the evening. Mr. Valentine spoke earnestly and eloquently and aroused frequent applates. His rmarks upon the subject of the negro were very striking. He showed how the North was coming to a realization of the position of the South upon this question. He pointed out the necessity of the racial and social separation of the blacks and whites and indicated the completeness of this speration in

Let us have all possible regard for this gracious and friendly comrade of childhood. Do not let it be frightened away; once fled, it never returns. It is the sister of all sweet simplicity and truth; the guardian of the individual qualities of each of us. It is, besides, a great informing and educating force. We are sometimes so practical that I fear we may be tempted in our zeal to ferret out and ellp the wings of all nelve and simple things. Ingenuousness belongs by right of birth to life, thought and education. There are some little children who have been prevented from ever being children at all by their parents, who seem to forget that before the fruit of autumn, flowers have to be, and perfumes and song of birds and all the fairy springtimes.
